Editorial Review

Review

'Explores a radically different approach to strategic management. Argues against the rational models in favour of narrative, conversation and learning from one's own experiences the central means by which we gain understanding and knowledge of strategy in organizations. Fascinating and thought provoking. Essential reading for anyone concerned with keeping up with the latest thinking in strategy.' Dr Bruce Lloyd, Review Editor for LRP

From the Back Cover

'I would very much like to use the book in my classes. The issues are spot on and reflect a refreshing and relevant new perspective on strategy and organisations.'

Carl Brønn, The Norwegian University of Life Sciences

Steve Hills, Sheffield Hallam University

Renowned for its unconventional thinking, Strategic Management and Organisational Dynamics continues to be a refreshing alternative for students and lecturers of strategic management specifically looking for 'something different'. Stacey challenges the conceptual orthodoxy of planned strategy, focusing instead on the influence of more complex and unstable forces in the development of strategy.

In this fifth edition, Stacey also covers contemporary issues including:

- The links between micro and macro-level activities in the organisation
- Focus on the gathering interest in 'strategy-as-practice'
- The treatment of ethics and values in strategic management
