Editorial Review

Review

“A triumphant compendium of interviews with more than 100 female entrepreneurs, from activists to designers to bakers. . . . The interviews are accompanied by stunning portraits of the women in their homes and work spaces.”

—Elle

“So inspiring!”

—Good Morning America

“One of the Ten Most Un-Put-Downable Reads of the Year”

—Essence

“Surprising, real, and illuminating.”

—Vogue.com

“Bonney continues to inspire as she offers what she calls ‘visibility for powerful women in business.’ Whether they’re artists, chefs, tattoo artists or writers, creative women of all colors, ages, sexualities and experience share their fears, mistakes and successes.”

—Los Angeles Times

“Bonney’s quietly radical, profoundly moving project brings together short interviews with a diverse group of women who share insight on their life’s work. . . . Gorgeous photographs reveal a kaleidoscope of joyful enterprise. Small business owners and poets, chefs and cartoonists, potters and musicians all give generous, humorous counsel to taking risks and following one’s heart. Their creativity is so inspiring that this book should be in every female’s possession, especially young girls in need of positive role models and old girls looking for a kick. Seeing women of so many ethnicities, backgrounds, and abilities successfully living their dreams is totally uplifting.”

—Bust

“An invigorating and empowering collection of life-earned wisdom and practical advice.”

—Brainpickings.com

“It’s so refreshing to see new faces being featured.”

—Forbes.com

“Learn how to break the glass ceiling from one of the many talented self-starters profiled in Grace Bonney’s In the Company of Women. . . . Sage business advice.”

—Martha Stewart Living

In the Company of Women tells the stories of more than 100 women who work for themselves—artists, writers, designers, chefs, musicians. [Author Grace Bonney] talks to established names like Eileen Fisher and Roxane Gay, and women who are just launching their fledgling careers. . . . [A] beautifully diverse range of voices, all of them weighing in on lessons they’ve learned, mistakes they’ve made, traits they’re proud of, characteristics they admire in others and so on.”

—The Chicago Tribune

“This inspiring book encapsulates the stories of more than 100 creative women in the areas of design, visual arts, culinary arts, literature, and show business in short Q&As about the lessons they’ve learned on their journeys to success.”

—The Atlanta Journal-Constitution

“An excellent source of inspiration for women (and men) of all ages.”

—Library Journal*, starred review

“[This book] acts as a source of inspiration for anyone, regardless of gender, who’s running a business, or thinking about it.”
